

On My Mind Chelsea Handler

The late-night insult queen on potty-mouthed pals, impulse shopping, and her flair for flats

Would love to work with ... My friend Robin Wright, who's hilariously funny and raunchy. She's a dirty birdie. A lot of people would be surprised to see that side of her.

Beauty palette ... I want to look fresh and natural—like I haven't been drinking. I use Nars Sheer Glow foundation and their blush. My favorite mascara is Chanel Inimitable in black.

Personal potion ... I am not a perfume person. I prefer to mix Bath & Body Works scented lotions with oils instead.

Style icons ... Gwyneth Paltrow, who looks nice and clean and changes it up a lot. Gwen Stefani, who does bold things with her clothes, hair and makeup. And Snooki from Jersey Shore because she's willing to show that belly off!

Shoes du jour ... Lanvin flats. I have about 15 pairs in different colors.

Would someone please invent ... A post-vacation body deflator? When I go away, I lie on the beach and drink margaritas all day. I always come back 3 to 5 pounds heavier.

Craving ... Steamed littleneck clams. Katsuya, my favorite restaurant, makes them for me.

Eight is enough ... At home I have about eight people who work for me, including Chuy—I'm still trying to figure out what he does. I even have a guy who adjusts my pool—he won't show me how to do it myself.

Driving ... A grayish lavender Jaguar XK. I saw it in the showroom and fell in love. I didn't even test-drive it. That's how I pick out my men too.

Chelsea Handler is always on our minds

MISS MISBEHAVING
In 2002, Handler first shocked viewers as a prankster on Oxygen's Girls Behaving Badly.

WEST COAST HOST
On her late-night talk show—Chelsea Lately, on E!—the brazen blonde skewers pop culture's icons and casualties and revels in making her guests blush.

LIT WIT
Already a best-selling author, she bares all again in her latest book, Chelsea Chelsea Bang Bang.
